

Threat to the Southern Slopes

This map from the 2006 local Plan shows SHLAA 057. A 'SHLAA' is an area of open land that a developer submitted to Canterbury City Council to be assessed for its housing potential. The University of Kent submitted the whole of the Southern Slopes to be assessed for its housing potential. The report concludes that because of the significant negative effect on the countryside, SHLAA 057 should not be considered for residential development.
